Modern Art & Ideas

Today's goal • 3/3 items

Module 1
Introduction to Modern Art & Ideas

Module 2
Places & Spaces

Introduction to Places & Spaces
Welcome to Module 2 — Reading • 10 min
Places & Spaces — Video • 4 min

Real and Imaginary Places
How do artists choose to represent the world? — Reading • 20 min
Martin Wong. Stanton near Forsyth Street. 1983 — Video • 1 min
Practical Scenario — Real-world application • 5 min
Zarina. Home is a Foreign Place. 1999 — Video • 2 min

Experiencing a Place
How do artists capture the mood of a place? — Reading • 10 min
Claude Monet. Water Lilies. 1914-26 — Video • 1 min
Practical Scenario — Real-world application • 5 min
Emeka Ogboh. Lagos State of Mind. 2017/2020 — Video • 2 min

Reimagining a Place
How do artists reimagine architecture? — Reading • 10 min
Teddy Cruz, Fonna Forman. Manufactured Sites: A Housing Urbanism Made of Waste/Maquiladora, project (Model, 2005). 2005-2008 — Video • 2 min
Carolina Caycedo. Spirals for Shared Dreams. 2022 — Video • 4 min

Review & Reflect
Optional Readings & Resources — Reading • 10 min
Assessment: Places & Spaces — Dialogue • 15 min
Optional Prompts for Discussion & Reflection — Reading • 10 min

Module 3
Art & Identity

Introduction to Art & Identity
Welcome to Module 3 — Reading • 10 min
Art & Identity — Video • 4 min

Identity & Portraiture
How do artists represent their sense of self? — Reading • 20 min
Henri Matisse. The Red Studio. 1911 — Video • 2 min
Practical Scenario — Real-world application • 5 min
Frida Kahlo. Self-Portrait with Cropped Hair. 1940 — Video • 1 min

Identity & Relationships
How do artists represent others? — Reading • 10 min
Catherine Opie. Being and Having. 1991 — Video • 1 min
Practical Scenario — Real-world application • 5 min
Amira Virgil. The Melanin Pack for The Sims 4. 2016 — Video • 2 min

Challenging Identity
How do artists challenge identity? — Reading • 10 min
Lorna Simpson. Wigs (Portfolio). 1994 — Video • 2 min
Kay WalkingStick. You're an Indian? 1995 — Video • 1 min

Review & Reflect
Optional Readings & Resources — Reading • 10 min
Assessment: Art & Identity — Dialogue • 15 min
Optional Prompts for Discussion & Reflection — Reading • 10 min
Optional Mid-Course Survey — Reading • 5 min

Module 4
Transforming Everyday Objects

Module 5
Module 5: Art & Society

Module 6
Course Conclusion

How do artists represent their sense of self?

0:32 / 3:17 1x

Marc Chagall. I and the Village. 1911. Oil on canvas, 6' 3 5/8" x 59 5/8" (192.1 x 151.4 cm). The Museum of Modern Art, New York. Mrs. Simon Guggenheim Fund. © 2016 Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York/ADAGP, Paris

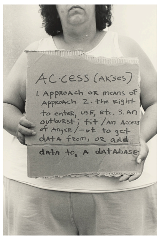

Marc Chagall grew up in a Hasidic Jewish community in what is today Belarus. I and the Village, painted the year after he moved to Paris, evokes his memories of the place. He shows people and animals living side by side, their mutual dependence illustrated by the lines connecting the eyes of a peasant and cow. Their faces frame a view onto a vividly colored scene, where a male figure carrying a scythe walks behind an upside-down woman. "Cows, milkmaids, rooster, and provincial Russian architecture…are part of the environment from which I spring," he once described, but, "Lines, angles, triangles, squares carried me far away to enchanting horizons." The vibrant colors and loose geometries Chagall used to render the scene nostalgic signal his awareness, among other things, of the new fractured and fragmented visual language of [Cubism] that he encountered in Paris.

On Kawara. I Got Up…. 1977. Ink and stamps on postcards, each postcard 4 x 5 7/8" (10.2 x 15 cm), each frame 53 3/4 x 11 1/4 x 1 3/4" (136.5 x 28.6 x 4.4 cm). Gift of Angela Westwater. © 2016 On Kawara

[Conceptual] artist On Kawara made work about time and his own daily rituals. He began the series I Got Up… in 1968 and continued it for 11 years. Each day, he would stamp two tourist postcards with the phrase "I GOT UP AT," followed by the time he arose that day. He sent these postcards to friends, family members, collectors, and colleagues, mailing more than 8,000 cards by the project's end. Together, the postcards form a picture of the artist's life, revealing his frequent travels, his inconsistent schedule (his wake times range from early in the morning to late in the afternoon), and, most fundamentally, the very fact that he exists.

Laura Aguilar. Access + Opportunity = Success. 1993. Gelatin silver prints. Each: 19 15/16 × 15 15/16" (50.6 × 40.5 cm). Geraldine Murphy Fund © 2024 Estate of Laura Aguilar

In a sequence of photographs, Laura Aguilar holds up five cardboard signs, staging herself in the position of someone asking passersby for help. Three of the cards show definitions of each term in the work's title, handwritten by the artist, separated by signs with plus and equal signs, forming the equation Access + Opportunity = Success.

In the photos in which we can see the artist, the compositions are cropped such that the top half of her head is obscured—echoing the exclusions art institutions have historically committed by denying access and recognition to artists, like Aguilar, who identify as queer, Latinx, or disabled. The artist saw photography as "the only way I could express myself," and making portraits, whether of herself or of others, was a road to understanding who she was.

Mark as completed

Like Dislike Report an issue

Go to next item