

Feedback: 0/10 items

[illegible]

Welcome to Seeing Through Photographs!

While it is important to note that photographic information is not a neutral and objective record of what it depicts, it is also important to note that photographic information is not a neutral and objective record of what it depicts. While it is important to note that photographic information is not a neutral and objective record of what it depicts, it is also important to note that photographic information is not a neutral and objective record of what it depicts.