Module 6
Course Conclusion

Welcome to Module 5

0:06 / 0:56 1x

Many artists create work in response to the social, cultural, and political issues of their time.

You'll begin your exploration of Art & Society with three works of art:

- An iconic Great Depression-era photograph by Dorothea Lange
- Martha Rosler's photomontages protesting the Vietnam War
- Felix Gonzalez-Torres's expression of love and loss through two wall clocks

You'll gain a deeper understanding of history and contemporary society, and think critically about how artists depict and respond to world events using different techniques, materials, and styles. You'll discover a variety of socially-engaged artworks ranging from custom shelters for unhoused individuals, to a "house" made of spices and prayer beads that explores hope in a time of personal tragedy and global upheaval.

At the end of the module, you'll have a chance to reflect on Art & Society in the optional discussion forums!
